

ABSTRACT OF THE DISCLOSURE

A processing apparatus that provides a plasma treatment to an object includes a process chamber that 5 accommodates an object to be processed, and generates plasma, a gas introducing part for introducing gas into the process chamber, and a mechanism that arranges the object at an upper side in a flow of the gas than an plasma generating region.